

Highbush Cranberry - Prefers rich soil with ample moisture, full sun or shade. Moderate growth rate.

Leaf: Opposite, simple, 3-lobed, 2 to 4 inches long, coarsely dentate. Petiole has round, raised glands near base of leaf, petiole is grooved.

Flower: White, flat top cluster about 2 to 3 inches across, outer flowers larger and sterile, appearing in late spring and early summer.

Fruit: Drupes, nearly round, 1/3 inch across, bright red, juicy, maturing in fall.

Twig: Light reddish brown, lustrous; buds with only 2 visible scales, green and slightly stalked.

Bark: Gray, becomes rough scaly with age.

Form: Large shrub (15 feet tall), arching stems, very dense, rounded form.